

HOPE TO ADJUST TARIFF TANGLE

President Will Seek to Line Up
Republicans at Conference Tomorrow

ELASTIC PROVISION CRUX

Washington, July 12.—The conference between President Harding and the Senate leaders which will probably take place tomorrow will have a most important bearing on the fate of tariff legislation. As a matter of fact, the Senate is moving toward a deadlock on the tariff.
Senator Edge's speech yesterday, declaring that he would vote against the bill unless the elastic provision giving the President authority to adjust rates should be adopted has brought the opposition to a focus. Among others will speak in a few days, going even further than Mr. Edge in his opposition to the bill.
Mr. Jones holds that it would be no delegation of legislative powers to create a tariff commission having as great an authority over duties as the Interstate Commerce Commission has over railroad rates. Mr. Jones will also vote against the tariff bill unless the tariff commission features are strengthened.
On the other hand, the old-fashioned members of the agricultural bloc like Gooding are opposed to the elastic features and to the enlarging of the tariff commission's powers.

Democrats Look for Issue
The Democrats for partisan reasons will oppose the elastic provisions, hoping to make the tariff the issue against the Republican party in the coming campaign. A deadlock on the tariff and its defeat in the end, the Democrats believe, will be disastrous to the party in power as an evidence of its incompetence and because the business interests of the country wish tariff legislation as soon as possible in order to know where they stand.

Either a deadlock or a passage of the tariff without the elastic features will, it is believed by the Democrats, accrue to the advantage of themselves. The most moderate of the elastic provisions is the committee amendment known as 315 A, which provides that the President may raise or lower rates fixed in the bill to the extent of 30 per cent. This provision satisfies Mr. Edge, but it does not go far enough to satisfy Mr. Jones. Senator Frelinghuysen would also strengthen the Tariff Commission, but it is not known whether he will vote against the bill unless the elastic clause is adopted.

Since the speech of Senator Edge there has been much talk of not attempting to pass tariff legislation at this session. But the bill with the elastic features and the strengthening of the Tariff Commission may be made an asset for the Republican Party in the coming campaign and the need for action is so great that every effort will be made to unite the party upon an elastic tariff program in the conference with President Harding.

May Win Over Old Guard
It is believed the President will be able to force the extreme protectionists of the McCumber-Gooding type into line at least for the 315 A amendment. The position taken by Senator Edge and Leonard and to be taken by Senator Jones and perhaps also by Senator Poinsette will aid him in accomplishing this.

As the fate of the bill will remain in doubt until the final vote is taken after the conference committees of both houses have made their report. About chances of delay are enormous. About 150 amendments remain to be disposed of. Progress is slow. Opinion is divided. No open filibustering is necessary to delay the measure until it becomes impossible to reach a vote before election.
The Democrats wish to avoid the responsibility for filibustering the bill to death.

Prospects of Passage Dim
Nevertheless the prospects of legislation never looked dimmer than they do on the eve of the conference between the Senate leaders and the President. The estimated date of final passage is still being put back. One of the best judges of the legislative situation among the Senate leaders a short time ago named September 15 as the date of passage by the Senate and October 1 as the date when the conference report would be received and acted upon. He now names October 1 as the date of passage by the Senate with the final passage a fortnight later. This is close to the election.

The necessity to act is so great that it is generally believed that somehow a bill will get through before election, but no one knows just how.

MISS HUMANN A MOTHER

Son Born to Convicted Girl at Mercy Hospital
Auburn, N. Y., July 12.—Gustie Humann, now serving a maximum sentence of fifteen years in the Women's Prison here for perjury committed at the trial of Joseph Labacel, in Long Island City, gave birth last night to a son, in Mercy Hospital, to which she was removed Sunday night, in conformity with the law. Labacel is the admitted father of the child.
This is the first case coming under the new law passed last winter which provides that a child born to a woman convict shall be taken from her before returning her to prison. The parents of the Humann girl said at the time she was committed that they would take the child.

ENTRY TO JAIL REFUSED

Trevorton Miner, Out of Work, Wants to Be Locked Up
Sumbury, Pa., July 12.—Norman Sharp, of Trevorton, failed to break into the Northumberland County prison yesterday, Sharp told Warden Calhoun he was in arrears on a court order of $20 a week alimony. Since the mines shut down he has been out of work.
He said he would go to jail until he could see the mines resuming, but the warden refused to admit him.

London, July 12.—(By A. P.)—Sir Thomas Glen-Coats, chairman of J. & P. Coats, Ltd., Reform Liberal member of Parliament for West Kentfrewshire, died today at his home, Ferguillie Park, Paisley. He was seventy-six. He was created a baronet in 1904. His wife, who was Elise Agnes Walker, daughter of Alexander Walker, of Montreal, died in 1910.

CARLTON AND WIFE DENY HE'S NOTORIOUS SIR JAMES

Man Held for Deportation is Given Hearing at Gloucester
James Carlton, who, immigration authorities say, is the notorious "Sir James," alias Claude Lyndon, who served a term in Joliet Prison, had a hearing in the Gloucester Detention Station this morning before United States Immigration Commissioner Hughes. Carlton faces deportation as an undesirable.
Carlton denied he is "Sir James," and said he had never lived in England, but that his home is in Canada. He produced bank books to show he was worth $200,000 at one time, testifying he had lost the money because he was duped by business men. Carlton said he was in this country in connection with several patents he has obtained on a table lamp.
Mrs. Gertrude Lyndon, the prisoner's wife, who bears her marriage name Miss English, an actress, of 5514 Vine street, was at the hearing to defend her husband, as was her mother, Mrs. Mary A. English. Both testified Carlton was not the man wanted.
Another hearing date was set by the immigration authorities, who say they will have a man present to identify the prisoner as "Sir James."

W. Drucker, 48 South Sixtieth street, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, arranged for a baseball game for the afternoon between the merchants of Sixtieth street and those of Market street. There also was a bowling match.
Music was furnished by two orchestras directed by W. D. Blair, president of the association.
Dinner for the 150 men will be served at the Rifle Club.

BABY GOES TO POORHOUSE UNLESS MOTHER APPEARS

Foundling in Bryn Mawr Hospital May Go to Norristown
Unless the girl infant abandoned yesterday on the seats of Joseph C. Crawford at Villanova is reclaimed by its mother today she will be taken to the Montgomery County Poorhouse at Norristown. The baby is now in the Bryn Mawr Hospital.
Yesterday a gardener working about the Crawford place discovered on one of the driveways a basket covered with a blanket. He pulled aside the blanket very cautiously and discovered the child. It was carefully clothed and wrapped and just then was quietly sucking a bottle of milk.
The Crawford family, to whom the gardener carried his find, notified the police at Ardmore. Two policemen came for it.

Blue-jay

to your druggist
Stops Pain Instantly

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in two forms—a colorless, clear liquid (one drop does it) and in extra thin plasters. Use whichever form you prefer, plasters or the liquid—the action is the same. Safe, gentle. Made in a world-famed laboratory. Sold by all druggists.
